

How do we get distance when there are reminders everywhere?

Describe where you're at with distancing? Avoidance? Overwhelmed?
Self-care? Step back easily?

Changed since last time

- not good
- learned about microplastics
- plastic everywhere
- can't distance
- very distressed

Not very good at distancing

- reminded by emails etc.
- skimming + cherry picking
- some guilt but doing what I can now

Sometimes I feel overwhelmed.
Manage my expectations

Improving a little

"Do your work & Step back"

- some automatic avoidance
- some making time for things I love
- everything feels contaminated

Techniques for distancing

Worry time / worry-free zones

Taking a deep breath - way to let it go

- very helpful
- my worries are like a big ball
this breaks it down
- helps crystallise things
- struggled a bit with big climate problems
- maybe adapt the questions

Notice the worry

What am I worrying about?

Maybe remove hypothetical → Is it hypothetical?

↓
Can I do something about this?

Yes
Current
Can do something

No Hypothetical or Can't do anything about it

Do
Now ← Action
Plan
Do it
Later
Schedule it
Let it go

↓
Let it go